Overview

HIST 369 introduces major themes in the political, social, and economic history of Canada's first peoples from 1830 to the modern era.

Throughout the course we see the conflicts between government and First Nations objectives and worldviews. Among topics approached are the conflicting views of governments and Native peoples regarding the meaning of treaties, the conflict between European-Canadian goals of economic development and First Nations efforts to maintain control over their traditional lands, and political and cultural efforts of Native peoples over time to assert their rights within Canada.

Outline

- Unit 1: Colonialism and Natives of Western Canada, 1830-1900

- Unit 2: Residential Schools

- Unit 3: Native Women's Agency in the Fur Trade and under Colonialism

- Unit 4: Colonialism and Native Peoples of the North, Central Canada, and the Atlantic Region, 1830-1900

- Unit 5: Native Peoples Confront Twentieth Century Canada

- Unit 6: Native Resistance and Ongoing Struggles
