Learning outcomes

After completing LGST 230, you should be able to

1. describe what we mean by law in Canada in comparison to other normative systems and explain some leading theories of law.
2. describe the two legal systems found in Canada and explain their differences.
3. explain the structure of the Canadian legal system and describe the role and function of the judiciary.
4. explain the basic principles of Canadian tort, contract, property, business, family, administrative, and criminal law.
5. describe the nature and sources of civil liberties in Canada.
6. identify the different branches of legal professionals in Canada and describe their educational requirements.
7. explain what is meant by access to justice and law reform, and describe some initiatives in both areas.

Evaluation

To receive credit  for LGST 230, you must submit five assignments, achieve an overall course grade of D (50 percent)  or better, and receive a passing grade of 50 percent or better on the final examination. The weighting of the composite grade is as follows:

Activity	Weight
